

A TASK MARKETPLACE FOR THE NGO SECTOR

NGOexchange brings NGOs who are in need of getting tasks completed and professionals who are looking for task based projects onto the platform to help NGOs get more done with less and to give professionals who are looking for task based projects the opportunity to work for NGOs around the world that match their interests and passions.

MISSION

NGOexchange exists to bring billion dollar savings to the global NGO sector through sharing technology. Through connecting NGO needs to a motivated pool of talented professionals NGOexchange aims to help NGOs get more done, with less. We see a future of highly efficient and effective use of resources that means missions are met, people are helped and the planet is protected.

VISION

NGOexchange will be the place that NGOs come to share resources and knowledge focused around a global community of collaborating participants. Blockchain technology will store, manage and protect data associated with the exchange of value making fraud and corruption harder to perpetrate. We see a future where even the smallest NGOs can access a world of skills, talent, infrastructure, tech, vehicles, medicine and much more through the utilization of sharing technology.

IMPACT

The gig economy, and more specifically task based working, has been utilised in the private sector for years, becoming increasingly popular as it's proving to be an effective method for getting work done quickly and efficiently. The private sector has utilised this methodology effectively for years to save both time and money and it's time for the NGO sector to benefit from this. ncreasingly popular as it's proving to be an effective method for getting work done quickly and efficiently.are helped and the planet is protected.

“We live in an age of connectivity. My dream is that NGOs around the world can access the skills they need to better perform their missions at the click of a button. We developed NGOexchange.com because Task Based Working is the best way to connect thousands of passionate people worldwide to the needs of our planet and the people in it.

Roya Karimnia has a background in Health Economics and Monitoring & Evaluation with a Masters Degree in Public Health from the London School of Hygiene and Tropical Medicine. The idea for NGOexchange came to Roya whilst searching for ways to make the NGOs she worked for more efficient. Comparing the NGO sector to the private sector Roya saw efficiencies that she felt could make a huge difference to the missions of thousands of NGOs around the world.

» BENEFITS OF USING NGOEXCHANGE

Save time Get talent quickly, get the task done quickly & reduce administrative time.

Save money Contract only what is needed.

Publicise To thousands of professionals worldwide with NGO specific skills.

Provide access To a global talent pool beyond the NGOs immediate network.

Increase ease Contact, contract and arrange payment all in one place.

Improve quality Of work that originally might not have had the right people with the specific skillset to complete it.

SOCIAL PROBLEM

International humanitarian aid has continued to increase, reaching $27bn in 2016 (Global Humanitarian Assistance Report 2017). Despite this level of aid, over a third of needs are still not being met and demand is rising. Failing to act early to mitigate crises costs millions which is why cost-effective and efficient processes are even more critical to meet the unprecedented need. Through simply being more connected, NGOs can achieve a lot more whilst spending a lot less. The private sector has already achieved this through online task based marketplace and it's time for the NGO sector to follow.

SOLUTION

There are 10 million NGOs worldwide (The Global Journal); meanwhile the global skilled workforce is growing. Skilled and passionate professionals all over the world are looking to work with NGOs that match their interests and they want to do it remotely. The gig economy, and more specifically task based working, has been utilised in the private sector for years, becoming increasingly popular as it's proving to be an effective method for getting work done quickly and efficiently.

NGOexchange is a task based marketplace that aims to help NGOs get more done with less by bringing together onto one platform NGOs who are in need of getting tasks completed and NGO professionals who are looking for task based projects. Our platform will allow any organisation to post a request for services from a 1 hour task to 6 months whilst also providing an online catalogue of skills directly relatable to the needs of the NGO sector. This means NGOs only procure the precise tasks they need, quickly and efficiently.

DO MORE WITH LESS!

Marketing/PR Manager: Mrs. Emilija Zagere
emilija@ngoexchange.com, +855 96 934 3272

#17, Street 306, Phnom Penh
www.ngoexchange.com